New Blow for Employers: Unemployment Taxes UP

Just when the job market seems to be improving... employers are facing a new pounding that could cause further drag on job creation. Most employers, in most states, in 2010 are getting hit with higher unemployment tax rates. The worst example is in Hawaii, where the state employer-paid unemployment insurance tax could jump up an average of 600 per cent in 2010. Employers in at least 35 states are getting higher UI taxes. For the unpleasant details, continue reading...
